Annual Library Book Sale Scheduled Oct. 12-13

By Richard Hayes
Chief Librarian

The annual book sale sponsored by the Friends of the Library will be held Friday and Saturday, Oct. 12-13 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Each year volunteers contribute many hours to this project. The main purpose is to recycle used books — discards from the library — as well as those donated by residents. The funds, $500-$800 each year, are used by the Friends to improve the library's book collection, services and equipment.

Please bring your donations to the library. If you tell us how many volumes, we'll give you a letter for tax purposes. But no musty, dirty books, or school and college texts are wanted, please.

The library will check each book given, and if it is needed in the library's collection, it will be kept. The rest will be offered in the Friend's book sale.

Four Lanes & Electric Pinsetters Too!

Who says Cohasset kids have nowhere to go?

There's always candlepin bowling at the community center. With town and school recreation programs in full swing, it's easy for little kids and adults to get an alley.

Shoes can be rented for 10 cents a pair. "We have three sizes of everything," manager Bill O'Connell said, "and if we don't have the right size, kids can bowl in their stocking feet." He added that after use all shoes are sprayed with a deodorizer/disinfectant.

It costs 50 cents for members ($10 family membership, $5 individual) to bowl a string, and 75 cents for non-members. "When the lanes opened last spring we had kids waiting to bowl all through the night."

"But we're still feeling our way along this fall," O'Connell said. "This will be our first winter. On grey, rainy days we're packed. On sunny days you can't tell. Sometimes they're here, sometimes not."

O'Connell, a retired Boston Post Office employee helped attract kids to the alleys this summer by recommending to the community center board it offer three strings for $1. He's a competitive manager.

"It worked well." He also helps the kids with instruction, teaches them how to keep score, settles arguments, and monitors the 30 cents-a-coke machine.

Selectman Rocco Laugelle, who serves as second vice president of the center, said the bowling alleys are approximately 20 years old but until last spring, had been closed for some time.

He stressed that last spring's opening was preceded by lots of hard work by the board of directors, the Marine reservists, and notably Jim Drysdale, who retains the title of bowling director at the center.

Drysdale and others worked hard to install electric pin setters, refurbish the allies, install a new lowered ceiling, carpeting and air conditioning.

Thanks to donations of money and labor, and shoe donations from the Satuit Bowlaway, the costs were kept to $6,000 — still a large amount for the then struggling center.

Open bowling is scheduled from Monday through Friday from 3-5 p.m. and Saturdays and Sundays from 3-5 p.m. and 7-10 p.m. The open bowling hours could change should more leagues sign up, so check the schedule before whipping down on your bicycle.
